Member of Parliament / députée
London-Fanshawe

Dear Denis,

I would like to thank you for your involvement in fighting the cuts to Canada Post services. I want to let you know that the NDP completely disapproves of Canada Post's new plan. With your support and that of thousands of Canadians, we will do whatever it takes to convince the Conservative government to reverse its decision.

Once again, Stephen Harper and his government are directly attacking Canadian workers. Moreover, these service cuts affect seniors and people with reduced mobility. It is an attack against our society's most vulnerable members.

I agree Canada Post can modernize its services without going down the road to privatization. Canada Post should be exploring new ways to find revenue to maintain existing services. A responsible government would consider a range of solutions to improve services and attract new customers, through innovations such as e-commerce and financial services which have shown merit in many countries around the world.

You can count on New Democrats to provide viable solutions. Let's continue to work together to reverse the changes announced by Canada Post.

Only a New Democrat government will defend workers, the middle class and those who need it most. Having served as the Official Opposition, the NDP is ready to form the Government in the next federal election to give Canadians the country they deserve.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Irene Mathysen
